

Position Statement

Lighthouse CommuniCare Indigenous Corporation recognises Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people as the first Inhabitants of this country and in doing so we pride in the fact that we continue to acknowledge the continued spiritual, physical, social, and cultural connections.

From our forefathers of this great nation to where we are today, we will continue to believe in our extreme intelligence, the patterns and knowledges of the land, sea, sky that are incorporated in modern practices today.

We recognise the governance systems and structures between nature and man for over 60 000 years and we will pursue relentlessly to coexist by living harmoniously and sustainably.

We acknowledge our depth knowledge in designing, implementing, and evaluating programs and activities that are culturally sound and readily accepted by the first Nation.

We forge and collaborate with our elders past, present and the emerging leaders of the First Nation to realise our vision for reconciliation, we will dismantle the racist systems in all forms and sizes that create inequalities and disadvantage and advocate for self-determination and justice as inherent rights of First Nations people.
